Niti Shastra – The Art of Leadership

June 16 2010

Chanakya Pandit, aka Kautilya or Vishnugupta, attained lasting fame over 2300 years ago for two reasons: (1) his Sanskrit writings on leadership and polity and (2) the practical and effective counsel he gave to King Chandragupta Maurya, who conquered most of India under his guidance.

Chanakya's Niti-shastra (“The Art of Leadership”) is this great court pandit's second most famous work, containing sagacious wisdom with regard to corporate leadership & management, team leadership and coaching at the workplace.

➤ Benefits of attending:

- ✓ This workshop helps the attendant discover a striking example of the existing global diversity of effective leadership models,
- ✓ and brings into practice an age-old but ever-so-modern Indian leadership approach.
- ✓ The Niti Shastra approach is truly inspiring and helpful, whether you are confronted with questions on leadership in a unicultural environment, in an intercultural environment, or more particularly, in an Indo-European context

➤ Program contents:

- ✓ The Context Vector – The life and times of Chanakya and his Niti Shastra
- ✓ The Competence Vector – Niti Shastra in practice
- ✓ The Behaviour Vector – What a modern people manager can do with Niti Shastra’s insights at the workplace, and how this can turn into measurable enhancement of workplace performance

➤ Price per person: € 750, Indian lunch included (VAT excluded)
